THOMAS (1)

THOMAS BURNHAM, born in 1617, Herefordshire, England, came to New England previous to 1639 when records place him in Hartford, Connecticut. He was a man of determined character, educated above the average of his day, and had been fitted for the profession of law. He was plaintiff in many cases in the Hartford Court in connection with his property, and he usually argued his own cases. In 1659 he was attorney for Jeremy Adams of Northampton, Massachusetts and in 1662 he successfully defended Abigail Betts who had been accused of Blasphemy. The outcome of this case was unfortunate, however, for although he secured the acquittal of his client, he incurred the displeasure of the court because of "abusive statements" made in the prosecution of the case. As a consequence, he was prohibited from acting as attorney for others, and for a time was deprived of his citizenship.

In 1659 he purchased from the Indians a tract of land known to them as "Podunke," covering the present towns of South Windsor and East Hartford. The house he erected at Podunke was one of the five houses on the east side of the Connecticut river to be fortified and garrisoned during the Indian troubles in King Philip's war.

In 1639 he married Anne Wight, who was born in England about 1620. They were the parents of nine children, among whom his property at Podunke was divided before his death there 28 June 1688. His widow died 5 Aug. 1705.

THOMAS (2)

Born in 1646, the fourth child and oldest son of THOMAS (1) and ANNA (WIGHT) BURNHAM. He married in Killingworth, Conn., 4 Jan. 1676, NAOMI HULL, born 17 Feb. 1657, daughter of Josiah and Elizabeth (Loomis) Hull. She was the granddaughter of George (1) Hull, and her maternal grand-parents were Joseph and Mary (White) Loomis.

THOMAS (2) appears to have lived for a time in Windsor, but probably was living at Podunke when his death occurred 19 Mar. 1726.

His widow died 15 Mar. 1727.

They were the parents of four sons and five daughters.

JOSIAH (3)

Baptised 6 Sept. 1696, the youngest child of THOMAS (2) and NAOMI (HULL) BURNHAM.

He married in East Hartford, Conn., 12 Feb. 1730, MARGARET WOOD, daughter of Obadiah and Martha (Bigelow) Wood, and soon afterward settled "on the road between Hadley and Brookfield" in Massachusetts. The settlement was first known as Ware River,* from its location a stream of water by that name, and was so known until incorporated as a township under the name of Ware.

JOSIAH removed to Deerfield, Mass., in 1745, and sold his 44 acre farm at Ware River with a house thereon to John Post. He had previously spent two or three years in Deerfield when Indian troubles presumably had driven the family there for safety, and two of his eight children were baptised in Deerfield in 1736 and 1737.

In 1758 he and his son Josiah Jr bought one hundred acres of Province Land on the Connecticut river, adjacent to, and later annexed to, the town of Montague located at what now is known as Montague City.

He died in 1763, between the 11th of June, when he made his will, and the 11th of October, when his will was entered for probate. There is no record of his widow's death.

* The Burnham Genealogy mistakenly gives the name of the place as "Warriner" instead of Ware River.

"Horace Burnham, who has attained the age of 75 years, has had a couple of attacks of ill-health lately, but is now much better. He is a man who has in his day performed more acts of kindness to his neighbors and friends in their trials and tribulations than the best of memories would dare attempt to recall, and there is wide-spread a wish that he may be spared many years on this earth, which he has shown by example can be made much happier than most of humanity are willing to admit."

Ex-Turners Man Has Assignment In New Zealand

TURNERS FALLS — Dr. Paul S. Burnham, associate professor of psychology and associate director of the student appointment bureau at Yale University, will leave this month for a semester's work at a New Zealand university.

PAUL S. BURNHAM

A former resident here, Burnham is the son of the late F.U. and Julia (Horrigan) Burnham. He was graduated from Turners Falls High School in 1920. While residing here he lived on Avenue B.

Engaged as consultant to Canterbury College, a part of New Zealand University, Burnham will study the possible use of tests to determine admission from high school to college.

Dr. Burnham's research trip is financed by the Fulbright Act and by Canterbury College. Nationally known for his work in the field of educational aptitude testing, Burnham, working with Albert B. Crawford, helped develop the Yale battery of educational guidance tests. Crawford is professor of psychology and director of student appointment at Yale.

He received his Ph.B. degree from Yale in 1929 and that year was apointed to the Yale faculty as an assistant in personnel research. He received a Ph.D. from Yale in 1935. In 1942, he was appointed assistant professor and the following year became associate director of the appointment bureau.

He is currently serving as chairman of the committee on aptitude tests of the college entrance examination board.

The New Zealand study will require six months. On the way to his headquarters at Christ Church on South Island, New Zealand, Burnham will briefly visit Honolulu and the Fiji Islands.
